

“Creative Placemaking” Transforming Communities through Public Art

Saturday, May 20, 2017 - 5PM

The 2017 Sanford Public Art Lecture Series

Featuring: Jason Burton, AICP, CNU-A, LEED-AP
Chief Planner, City of Orlando

“Creative Placemaking” is all about leveraging the power of the arts, culture and creativity to transform a community into one of character and sense of place. From large scale sculptures to pint-sized installations on buildings throughout a town, public art serves to enhance and promote a community’s unique culture. Join us as we learn how The City Beautiful is using public art to transform the City’s parks, streets and other public spaces, and how this knowledge can be used to promote public art in your own community.

Jason Burton is a Chief Planner with the City of Orlando and works with a studio of planners, architects and economic development professionals to create “visions” for sectors of the City. In his work, he has overseen a number of transformative projects involving public art. Mr. Burton is a graduate of the University of California at Davis with a degree in Regional Planning and Analysis with Honors.

The lecture is free and open to the public. For more information about the Sanford Public Art Lecture Series contact Christine Dalton, AICP – Historic Preservation Officer/Community Planner or visit www.sanfordfl.gov/artlectureseries.
